

Nature Encounter

Our 45th Year of EcoWeekend Nature FUN

Come celebrate 45 years with us! We are gathering to learn earth care!

This is an opportunity to have an affordable and enjoyable weekend experiencing nature's beauty and learning about nature from experienced program leaders who share their knowledge. We believe EcoWeekend is unlike any other offering in the United States. Five activity sessions are scheduled from Friday evening until noon on Sunday. You design your weekend by selecting session activities from up to 50 different options. Participants always experience growth and leave on Sunday with a serene smile. All EcoWeekend needs is YOU! Be sure to invite a friend.

Youth 2017

"If we want children to flourish, to become truly empowered, then allow them to love the earth before we ask them to save it."
David Sobel, Beyond Ecophobia

The 2017 Saturday youth program is chock full of opportunities for our youth to find things to love about our earth. The youth program age groups have changed this year; the youngest group will include Kindergarten through Second Grade. The middle group is 3rd through 5th graders, and the oldest group will have the 6th through 8th Graders. The K-2 Group begin their day exploring WORMS. Next, they will get to know bees. The morning ends with exploring the woods. After lunch, our youngest explorers will play an assortment of field games, complete a nature scavenger hunt, and create a nature-inspired art piece.

Morning activities for the 3rd through 5th graders begins with playing an assortment of field games. Then, they will complete a nature study. In the afternoon, this group will complete a nature scavenger hunt, will take a class on sustainability, and will construct a bat house.

The 6th-8th Graders will start their day learning wilderness first aid techniques; they will then have a class identifying the trees of Camp Oty'Okwa. In the afternoon, the oldest group will have a class on sustainability, will build birdhouses, and will challenge their abilities on the ropes course. "One touch of nature makes the whole world kin." -William Shakespeare

Once again this year, we will be obtaining parents' cell phone numbers so that we can reach parents if an emergency should occur.

Welcoming the "Bug Man," Mark Berman, Saturday Evening!

Mark Berman, a well-known and popular educator, will share his knowledge about what is "bugging" you this year. He brings plenty of bugs etc. and a treasure trove of bug facts that many find beyond fascinating. This special program is for all of us, young and young at heart! Enjoy.

COLUMBUS AUDUBON

EcoWeekend May 5-7, 2017

Camp Oty'Okwa is located between S. Bloomington and Conkles Hollow in the Hocking Hills. It takes just a little over an hour to travel the approximately 55 miles from downtown Columbus. Detailed driving directions will be included in your registration packet.

Audubon members and their households receive a preferred rate for EcoWeekend. If you are not yet an Audubon National, Columbus Audubon local chapter, Grange Insurance Audubon Member, a $30 fee will be added to your registration. This fee provides you a one-year membership in the Columbus Audubon local chapter. As a Columbus Audubon local chapter member, you receive monthly issues of the emailed Song Sparrow Newsletter, additional Columbus Audubon and Grange Insurance Audubon Center email communications of interest and access to local members-only programs.

About Registration

REGISTRATION

DEADLINE:

April 8, 2017!

Registrations will be filled as received until our limit has been reached. If you want to be scheduled with a friend or family member, please note this clearly on your registration form. We cannot make any promises, but we will really do our best to accommodate you. Registrations must be received by April 8, 2017. If you must cancel, refunds will be made—less the registration fee but only if you cancel prior to April 17, 2017. No refunds will be made for cancellations made after April 17.

We have an EcoWeekend web site, www.ecoweekend.org. You can register and pay online. We use PayPal to process our payments. You may still pay your registration fees and submit your registration by mail as an alternative to web registration.

Choose from the following options:

1. Register online and pay using a PayPal account, electronic check or credit card.
2. Register online and mail your check as soon as you complete your online registration form.
3. Register by mail by enclosing your registration form from this brochure and your check made out to Columbus Audubon.

These choices make registration and payment quick and easy. Register today!

Columbus Audubon strives to provide excellent programs at the lowest cost possible. Overnight accommodations and meal prices are based on Camp Oty'Okwa's pricing structure. The cost for overnight accommodations is the same whether you sleep in a lodge, cabin, platform tent or your own tent. Registration fees cover our printing, publicity, postage, supplies and equipment costs that we incur specifically for EcoWeekend. The registration fees also help to cover the cost of meals and accommodations for our outstanding leaders who do not charge for their programs, time and hard work.

Donations: EcoWeekend makes every effort to be an affordable event for everyone. That's why we ask for additional voluntary donations by those who want to support this outstanding event. (See your registration form to add a voluntary donation). Your generous contribution will be greatly appreciated!

If you have any questions, you may call Columbus Audubon's EcoWeekend Committee Chair Maura Rawn at 740/653-8574.

Important Things to Know
